Dear all,

I'd like to summarize a few of the exciting opportunities available to you and mention how we are willing to assist.

First, the TLEF (UBC's Teaching & Learning Enhancement Fund) has an exciting new funding opportunity. The Large TLEF Large Transformation funding (up to $1 million) has produced a special call for hybrid and multi-access course redesign (details here). The Large TLEF Projects have a two-stage approval process with an LOI due 3 pm on July 14 and full proposals due Oct 13, 2022. A call for Small TLEF Innovation proposals (up to $50,000) will be announced in September 2022.

Second, in Forestry we are hosting a workshop to help you prepare a TLEF proposal. We encourage you to join us for advice, but also to look for synergies across our faculty as Michelle is interested in helping several faculty join forces for a large transformational TLEF shared among several faculty and/or several programs.

Details of the workshop are below:

Title: How to Put Together a Winning Teaching and Learning Enhancement Fund (TLEF)

Application

NEW Date: June 16, 2022, 11 am to 12:30 pm

Zoom registration here

Workshop agenda:

- Opening and context (Sarah Gergel)
- What are the TLEF program and priority focus areas (Jeff Miller)
- Successful examples from Forestry (Peter Marshall)
- Tips for preparing a winning proposal (panel discussion: Jeff Miller, Peter Marshall, Simon Ellis, moderated by Sarah Gergel)
- Open discussion and brainstorming for ideas and synergies within Forestry

Best regards,

Sarah E. Gergel landscape.forestry.ubc.ca
